Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurWhen Hannah Conti shows up at Grace Smiths office, little does the wise-cracking PI know how dark a path her newest case will take her downAlison Wynne-Ellis was just sixteen when she was convicted of the brutal stabbing of her teacher Trudy Hepburn, before giving birth to Hannah and putting her up for adoption.Hannah wants Grace to prove her biological mothers innocence for a murder committed twenty years before.Why did Alison never try to prove her own innocence?Alison may have been the prime suspect, but who else could have wanted quiet, cowardly Trudy Hepburn dead?Grace starts digging up some dark truths about the pupils of Alisons old school, while fending off offers of help from an officer who worked on the original case, Declan OHara. Grace doesnt want or need a partner to share her investigation with. But what does OHara want, and why is he only trying to help Alison now? And who is threatening Grace with some very nasty scare tactics as she delves deeper into both Alison and Trudys pasts? With the threats escalating from a rat nailed to the PIs front door to a near miss with a bullet, will Grace solve Trudy Hepburns murder before someone tries to silence her forever? Prime Suspect is a witty, original mystery starring PI Grace Smith. It was originally published as Sick as a Parrot and is the fifth in the Grace Smith series. PI Grace Smith is on form Liz Evans moves into that select group of writers whose next book I eagerly await Sunday Telegraph Liz Evans is the author of ten best-selling novels, including the Grace Smith mystery series. She has worked in all sorts of companies from plastic moulding manufacturers to Japanese banks through to film production and BBC Radio. She was born in Highgate, went to school in Barnet and now lives in Hertfordshire. Endeavour Press is the UKs leading independent publisher of digital books.
